Re: Sparks Employee Selected Capitol Area Staffing Association Employee of the Year

SPARKS is proud to announce that the Capital Area Staffing Association (CASA) has selected SPARKS' own employee, William Omondi, as the 2008 Staffing Employee of the Year.

As an Accounting & Finance professional, William Omondi represents SPARKS in several key accounts. William has received critical hands-on experience from a variety of accounting & finance positions. His flexibility regarding location, his willingness to learn new skills and his intense propensity for mentoring has secured him a career opportunity in a company that recognizes him as a key talent and has paved the way to exciting challenges.

While working hard to establish his career here in the United States, William has not forgotten those suffering from extreme poverty and illness in his homeland of Kenya. He and his wife, Liz, have established a non-profit organization to fund a secondary school system in his home village. The construction of Konya Secondary School (currently underway) will provide continuing education at a reasonable cost to local families, especially benefiting the underprivileged girls and HIV/AIDS orphans of the region.

Congratulations to William and thank you for being such a great representative of SPARKS!

Thank you CASA for this honor.
